

Application of GS Mark - important message

When applying for the GS Mark for the first time, can the application be made to several GS Certification Bodies?

No. An initial application for the GS Mark for a product can only be made to one GS Certification Body.

Important:

The application for the first time GS certification for a product shall be made only to one GS certification body as stipulated in several EC directives, e.g. Machinery Directive, allowing the application for a type approval only to one Notified Body.

After the GS Mark is granted then, the manufacturer can apply for additional GS Marks at other GS Certification Bodies.

A product on the market can only carry one GS Mark and that marking must be consistent across both product and packaging. This is to ensure that the certification can be traced back to one certification source.
