

British Retail Consortium Global Standard for Food Safety, Issue 5

Your Challenges

From farm to fork, the entire food marketplace has evolved into a diverse network of industries. The demands of this Standard are high, and with good reason as food poisoning and contamination incidents have caused the recall of products and even the death of consumers.

If the requirements of this Standard are not understood, implemented, and embraced by all parties involved, not only is the quality of the food produced at risk, but also the defense of "Due Diligence" is more difficult to achieve, thus the reputation and brand value can be affected.

Our Solutions

The BRC standard is an internationally recognised standard for manufacturers of food products, aimed at assisting them produce safe and legal products of required quality. By implementing this Standard in your company you will have established a recognised system to assist in the avoidance of failure and some of the required elements for a "Due Diligence" defense.

By becoming certified against this Standard you will be registered on a database used by many of the Global retailers to evaluate their suppliers.

With our help and support your organisation can become a certified company and will be recognized for your Product Quality, Legality and Consumer Safety.
